Remembrance

The Cenotaph

The Cenotaph is a war memorial situated on Whitehall in London. It began as a temporary structure erected for a peace parade following the end of the First World War but following an outpouring of national sentiment it was replaced in 1920 by a permanent structure and designated the United Kingdom's primary national war memorial. Designed by Edwin Lutyens, the permanent structure was built from Portland stone between 1919 and 1920 by Holland, Hannen & Cubitts, replacing Lutyens' earlier wood-and-plaster cenotaph in the same location. An annual National Service of Remembrance is held at the site on Remembrance Sunday, the closest Sunday to 11 November (Armistice Day) each year. Lutyens' cenotaph design has been reproduced elsewhere in the UK and other countries including Canada, New Zealand, Bermuda and Hong Kong.

- ✓ Easy to Modify and Expand In-House
- ✓ Free to run on InfoAktiv Systems

The people, events, monuments and organisations serving the remembrance of The First World War.

Over 16 million people lost their lives in World War 1. This free package covers the human cost of war and how casualties were mourned and remembered, then and now. It goes beyond World War 1 with an optional section on today's National Memorial Arboretum including the poignant 'Shot at Dawn' memorial.

World War 1 Remembrance is an off-the-shelf multimedia package designed for museums and education. It can be used as-is or tailored in-house to add whatever extra information, memorials or personal information is wanted. The appearance can be changed so that any institution can 'make it their own'.

The Benefits of Using InfoAktiv.

Because it runs on an InfoAktiv system, the package is amazingly easy to tailor, expand, adapt and update. It can be modified by anybody who can use a PC. This removes any reliance or expense associated with using outside contractors and makes it a perfect and very gratifying project for volunteers to work on.

InfoAktiv systems are a superb asset and a long-term investment because they can be used and re-used for any subject. Displays never need to become stagnant or out-of-date.

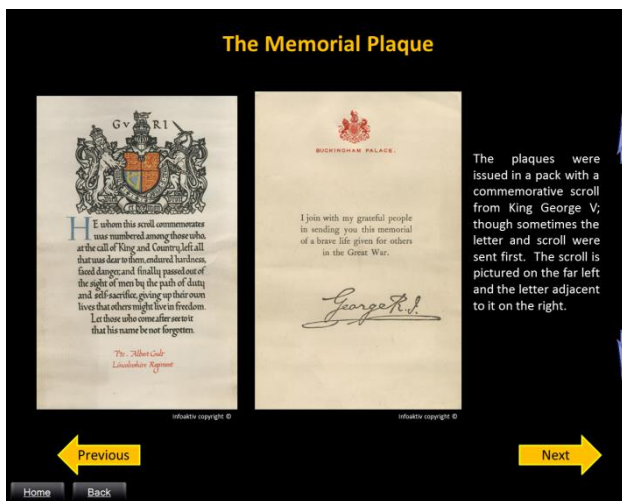

What's in the Package?

More than 25 screens of information about remembrance. It covers national, regional and individual monuments including The Cenotaph, The National Memorial Arboretum, the Tomb of The Unknown Warrior and The Memorial Plaque or 'Death Penny'. Institutions are covered; The Commonwealth War Graves Commission and The Royal British Legion, as is Remembrance Day itself.

Layered Information

The basic package is designed to allow visitors to 'dip in' and find out about the topics that interest them. This works for the casual visitor who has limited time to spend on individual items or somebody who wants to dig deeper into specific topics. Owners can add any amount of further information to this package or rearrange the contents to suit their own displays.

Simple to Use

Just touch a picture and it takes the user in to the category or item selected.

Easy to Change

If you, as the system's owner, want to change the layout or structure it is as easy as rearranging folders and files with Windows Explorer

Add Local Community Information

The package makes it easy for you to add information about people, memorials, events and any other subject.

There is unlimited scope to edit and add to the text, images and categories. They can all be edited and expanded to add your own information or graphics. Anybody with basic PC skills can do this, making it the ideal basis for a school or community project.

The description pages are easy to modify using PowerPoint, and an infinite number of folders containing further information can be created using everyday software packages and formats.
