The Aftermath

The End of the War

At 11:00 am GMT on 11 November 1918 (later known as the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month) fighting ceased, World War I came to an end following an armistice with Germany. During the course of 1919 and 1920 the Allied powers signed the treaties of Versailles, Saint-Germain-en-Laye, Neuilly-sur-Seine, Trianon, and Sèvres bringing the war to an official end. The aftermath of World War I saw drastic political, cultural, and social change across Europe, Asia, Africa, and even in areas outside those that were directly involved. Four empires collapsed due to the war, old countries were abolished, new ones formed, boundaries were redrawn, international organizations were established, and many new and old ideologies took a firm hold in people's minds.

World War I also had the effect of bringing political transformation to Germany and the United Kingdom by bringing near-universal suffrage to these two European powers, turning them into mass electoral democracies for the first time in their histories

- ✓ Easy to Modify and Expand In-House
- ✓ Over 80 Screens of Information for Free!

A package to provide an overview of the events that occurred directly after World War One. Use it 'as-is' or as the basis to build your own interactive display.

The consequences of World War I were dramatic, far-reaching and are still very relevant today. This package covers the resulting political, cultural, and social changes around the world as empires collapsed, old countries were abolished and new ones formed.

World War 1 Aftermath is an off-the-shelf multimedia package designed for museums and education. It can be used as-is or tailored in-house by individual organisations to add whatever extra information they want. The graphics can be changed too so that any school or museum can modify it to 'make it their own'.

The Benefits of Using InfoAktiv.

Because it runs on an InfoAktiv system, the package is amazingly easy to tailor, expand, adapt and update. It can be modified by anybody who can use a PC. This removes any reliance or expense associated with using outside contractors and makes it a perfect and very gratifying project for volunteers to work on.

InfoAktiv systems are a superb asset and a long-term investment because they can be used and re-used for any subject. Displays never need to become stagnant or out-of-date.

What's in the Package?

More than eighty screens of information covering treaties, revolutions, major events and descriptions of what happened to individual countries directly after World War 1.

Layered Information

The basic package is designed to allow visitors to 'dip in' and find out about the topics that interest them. This works for the casual visitor who has limited time to spend on individual items or somebody who wants to dig deeper into specific topics. Owners can add any amount of further information to this package or rearrange the contents to suit their own displays.

Simple to Use

Just touch a picture and it takes the user in to the category or item selected.

Easy to Change

If you, as the system's owner, want to change the layout or structure it is as easy as rearranging folders and files with Windows Explorer.

Graphics, text and categories can be customized and expanded to add your own information or branding. Anybody with basic PC skills can do this.

The description pages are easy to modify using PowerPoint, and an infinite number of folders containing further information can be created using everyday software packages and formats.
